

Department of Information Management

Goals

- To cultivate a person who own the capabilities not only information technology but also humanity literacy
- To cultivate a high technician who can manage enterprise and assist e-commerce.
- To cultivate a high technician who can develop and design information system.
- To cultivate a high technician who can maintain and manage information system

Education Features

- Empirically: combine courses with business practice, industry cooperation, and license.
- Professionally: provide professional assistance to guide student advanced study and career planning.
- Actionally: provide a mobile learning environment to fit the technology trend.
- Internationally: connect local to the world, emphasis English learning, certificate, and communicate with foreign sister university.

Courses Planning: The course is classified into 3 modules

- Business Management and e-Commerce
- Information System Development & Design
- Information System Maintain & Management

Department Orientation

- Join the communicative events of industry, government and academics, not only domestic or overseas.
- Based on general education, cultivate an integrated person who combines information technology capability with business management skill.
- Enhance the international visibility, create the new large scale.

Career Planning

- Advanced studies:
 - Graduate schools of Information Management, Information Technology Application, Information Engineering, Information Communication, and other Information-related graduate schools.
- Employment:
 - Software design
 - Database management and design
 - Planning and design of e-commerce systems
 - Network management and maintenance

- System analysis and system quality control.
- Department of MIS and information-related businesses.